EHF CHAMPIONS LEAGUE MEN

Make it happen

Foreword EHF President

EHF Champions League Men ready for tantalising main round!

After a high-quality group phase, the EHF Champions League Men 2026/27 is ready for what promises to become a tantalising main round. The new format of the competition, introduced before the start of this season, is proving its worth.

The two main round groups with six teams each are a true showcase of what the best clubs in men's handball have to offer, as all participants are eager to take the next step towards the EHF FINAL4 2027 on 12/13 June in Cologne.

The group phase with 24 teams have kept fans on the edge of their seats since September. The race to the main round was tight, with the last of the 12 available tickets only confirmed in the closing minutes of the last match of round 6 in late October.

While the 12 teams that finished third or fourth across the eight groups continue their international journey after the winter break in the EHF European League Men play-offs, the 12 teams that have made the main round are up for the next challenge on their path to European glory.

In group I, One Veszprém HC are the only team starting with the maximum of four points carried over from the group phase. Hoping to land their maiden EHF Champions League title this season, the Hungarian powerhouse will face fierce resistance from Paris Saint-Germain, the French side that also chase their first trophy and start on three points.

MT Melsungen, last season's EHF European League champions from Germany, and Polish side Orlen Wisla Plock open the main round on two points. The group is completed by two teams that made it to the EHF FINAL4 last season: Aalborg Håndbold from Denmark, which have one point, and the second team from Germany in this group, two-time finalists Füchse Berlin, who have to start from scratch.

In group II, half of the teams know what it means to lift the EHF Champions League trophy — with Spanish proud Barça as the defending (and record) champions and SC Magdeburg from Germany and Industria Kielce from Poland as former winners. Barça and Magdeburg are two of the teams that have four points to start with, and the same applies to Sporting Clube de Portugal.

The other three all begin the main round from zero: Kielce; GOG, the second Danish side in the main round; and Dinamo Bucuresti, the Romanian team that clinched the very last ticket available in a dramatic finish to the group phase.

Between 18 November 2026 and 4 March 2027, those 12 teams are going to battle it out as only the top four from each group will advance to the quarter-finals, while the two teams finishing fifth in each group move to the EHF European League.

The Road to Cologne is still long — but very exciting!
